WELCOMESIGNIS HUNG OVER DOOR

At the First Presbyterian Church,
Where a Series of Meetings
Are Being Held.

SINGER RAMSAY IS PRAISED

Rev. Cowling Will Preach Tonight on the Subject "The Master's Words to the Woman."

Welcome. Come again and bring a friend is the motto at the big meetings at the First Presbyterian church. Everything is being done from night to night by those in charge to make people feel welcome and that the church is interested in them, whether they are members of other churches or are not members of any church. At the close of each service and in fact on the day following one can hear such comments as "That was a good service tonight, or last night," as the case may be.

The music at these meetings is all that one could desire. Everywhere you hear people commenting on the wonderful ability of Mr. Ramsay as a chorus leader and as a soloist. His gentlemanly manner, unassuming and kindly way wins the hearts of the singers as well as the audience. The officers and membership of the Presbyterian church highly appreciate the kind and helpful assistance rendered by the singers of other churches.

Last night Rev. Cowling preached upon "The Master's Words to the Woman," and tonight he will speak on the subject "Why Christ Came to Earth." In the sermon last night the minister brought out the points that this was a very sinful woman, yet Christ's power to save made her pure and clean. The master found her a slave to sin, and he said unto her: "Woman, thy sins are forgiven thee, arise and go in peace." So Christ says to every sinner, "Come unto me and I will make you free."

ALL THE DRYS WERE WET FOR A WHILE

The County Option Petition in Rush
County Had a Narrow Escape
Last Friday.

THE FALL OF AN OFFICIAL

Maybe the hundreds who signed the petition calling for a county option election in Rush county will not be pleased to learn that they have already been voted "wet"—and good an' wet—but inasmuch as it was all an accident, maybe they will forgive and forget. It was last Friday when Miss Anna Bohannon was returning from New Castle where she went in the capacity of deputy auditor to give testimony in the county option proceedings. She changed cars at Connersville and while sauntering around that city beautiful with the precious document of signatures clinched in her right hand, she encountered a bulged up curbing and said curbing got the bulge on one of her French heels and she pitched forward in a graceful fall. The petitions "flew" out of her hand and fell in a puddle of water. And thus the hundreds of drys went "wet" until they could be converted again under an artificial heat of enthusiasm.

An automobile that swallows its own dust is described in Popular Mechanics.

SAW AN OLD COLLEGE CHUM

Who Had Put Away College Habits and is Now an "Actorine."

Among the more interested auditors at the Richard Carle show in Connersville last night was Miss Hazel Cox of this city. In the cast was a pretty and vivacious little dancer, singer and comedienne, Miss Nina Davis, whom Miss Cox was well acquainted with as the two girls attended the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music together.

KID WHITTON SAYS HE IS PERSECUTED

Says the Connersville Police Are Trying to Break Him—Pays a Fine.

WAS ARRESTED SECOND TIME

When "Kid" Whitton was arraigned before Judge Hankins this morning on a charge of intoxication he entered a plea of guilty and paid a fine of $3. and costs, amounting in all to $13, says the Connersville Examiner. He settled under protest, saying he was not guilty, but wanted the matter disposed of.

Immediately after he had been given a receipt for the amount of his fine, Whitton was served with another warrant, charging him with carrying concealed weapons. He denounced his second arrest as an outrage, vigorously declaring that he never carried a gun.

"It looks to me," said Whitton, "like this town is trying to break me." At this juncture his attorney, John Kiplinger of Rushville arrived and the trial of this last case was set for next Friday.

Whitton claims that he is being persecuted and says that he will prefer charges against Patrolman Frazier who arrested him.

SUIT AGAINST THE GOVERNOR OF OHIO

In His Capacity of Railroad Receiver,
Were Filed in the Local Court
Today.

JOHN A. GRAY WANTS DAMAGES

John A. Gray, through his attorneys, Watson, Tittsworth & Green, filed two suits today in Squire Kratzer's court against the C. H. & D. railroad. The suits are brought against Judson Harmon, receiver of the road, who is now governor of Ohio. Gray complains that the railway company was responsible for the loss of eight acres of blue grass burned last summer, having caught fire from a spark from a passing engine. In this instance he asks $25 damages. In the second suit Gray complains that the railroad did not keep up the fence along their right of way and he had three hogs killed as a result. For this Gray asks $15.

FIRST TIME IN YEARS.

Fred Davis, a traveling man of Chicago was here today and was entertained by his cousin, Dr. Frank H. Davis. It was the first time they had seen each other for twenty-six years. Mr. Davis is also a cousin of George and Ben Davis of this city.

BIG REVIVAL TO RESUME AGAIN

Evangelist Yeuell Will Preach on
"Is There a Personal God?"

SUBJECTS FOR THE MEETINGS

This Week the Noted Evangelist Will Preach Some of His Strongest Sermons.

The Yeuell meetings at the Main Street Christian church will be resumed this evening and the revival will go forward with unabated vigor. Evangelist Yeuell preaches tonight on "Is There a Personal God?" It will be a discussion of unusual interest in this day of theosophic and evolutionary theorizing about an impersonal God.

The teachers and officers of the Bible school met last night and made further plans for the meetings. The following are the subjects Mr. Yeuell will preach on each evening this week:

Wednesday—"A Weeping God."
Thursday—"Meeting God."
Friday—"Jonah and the Ninevites."

Saturday—"Quo Vadis; Rome Under Nero." "Persecutions of the Early Christians." Illustrated. Silver offering at door, for the benefit of Mr. Yeuell.

Sunday—10:30 a. m., "Ruins and Reconstruction;" 2:30, Men's Big Meeting, talk on "The Man With His Hair Cut Short;" 7:00, "Too Late to Save Jesus."

Ellsworth Rogers will direct the big chorus and sing solos at all the services.

RUSHVILLE ELKS ROUND UP A FAWN

Will "Carry Their Own Scenery" to Connersville Tonight to Have a Royal Time.

BRASS BAND WILL MEET THEM

The Elks are arranging for a big event Tuesday evening when they will have for their guests a large number of Rushville Elks, says the Connersville News. The occasion will be the initiation of Harrie L. Jones of Rushville, and many of his friends in that city are coming over to see that the work is well done.

A warm reception has been planned for the visitors. The band has been engaged and they will be met at the traction car and escorted to the lodge rooms. A banquet and speeches will form the after part of the evening.

Carmen Sylva, Queen of Roumania has practically built one hospital by the sale of her stories, and has largely benefitted several others.

TROLLEY LINE TO NEW YORK CITY

Such a Thing Will Soon be Possible
When a Few Gaps are Closed.

CHARACTERIZED AS A DREAM

Just a Few Years Ago But Now it is Almost a Reality and is Soon to Be.

Few people realize the full value of an electric line to a community. Of course this feeling gradually wears away when the lines come and people fully realize the many conveniences that they afford but to a community that has not been blessed there is an entirely opposite feeling. Are you thinking of going to New York this summer? If so how would you like to go by trolley. It will be possible. This is no fairy tale as can be seen by the following dispatch from Cleveland, Ohio:

Ten years ago the prediction that within a few years it would be possible to travel by electric trolley from Cleveland to Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Chicago, Toledo, Detroit, Buffalo, Rochester, Albany, Pittsburg and New York was characterized as a dream, yet today that dream is almost a reality.

The completion this week of a trolley line between Seville and Ashland, O., closes a gap which makes possible continuous travel between Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati and Indianapolis. On or before February 10, there will be inaugurated through limited service between Cleveland and Mansfield, making direct trolley connections with Columbus, Dayton, Cincinnati and Indianapolis. Later a through limited service between Cleveland and Columbus will be established.

Construction work looking to the closing up of short gaps in the trolley system of New York, Indiana and Ohio is now progressing rapidly and within the current year, it is said continuous travel by trolley between all the cities mentioned will be possible. There are now only a few short gaps to prevent through trolley service between Chicago and New York, only one gap between Cleveland and Buffalo, only one between Cleveland and Pittsburg, and also one between Cleveland and Chicago.

LENT BEGINS SOON AND EGGS ARE HIGH

Makes it All Have a Gloomy Aspect
For Those Who Will Observe the Season.

EASTER COMES ON APRIL 11

Lent begins February 24th, two weeks from tomorrow, leaving a little less than three weeks in which the Rushville Catholics may enjoy and indulge themselves before the time for restriction and religious thought. Easter falls on Sunday, April 11, forty days after Ash Wednesday.

The Catholic and Episcopal churches will observe the lenten season, as in the past. Services in each will be in keeping with the season.

It is said that Emperor William of Germany, has always been careful that the ancestral cradle of the Hohenzollerns should be used for each infant member of his family in succession.

BUSINESS MEN WITH WETS

Was One Reason They Marched to Victory in Wayne County.

The Richmond Palladium says: At Connersville the claim is being advanced that so many Rush county men are sore on J. Frank Hanly, ex-governor, for his special legislature and its alleged defeat of James E. Watson that they will vote to keep the county wet. It is claimed Rushville business men will favor the wets in the belief that if the surrounding counties go dry business will come to Rushville. "Some say it was that way here."

RED LINE CITIES BOWLING LEAGUE

Four Cities, Including Rushville, in an Organization That Looks Mighty Good.

ALL LOCATED ON THE I. & C.

The Red Line Bowling League, composed of four cities on the I. & C. traction line, was formally organized at a meeting held in this city this afternoon, says the Connersville News. The meeting was attended by Manager Jessop of the local alleys, Manager Harry Boyd of the Social alleys at Rushville, and Manager Clyde Stagg of the Stagg alleys, Greensburg. Shelbyville was not represented, but Manager Gray of the Pastime alleys of that city, has agreed to enter the league.

It is proposed to start the league season Thursday, February 25, and continue same until the latter part of June. Trophies will be offered the winner of the teams that finish high in the tournament. Games will be played in each city at least once each week. On account of all the cities being on the traction line the visiting teams can always return home the same evening they play.

MAY REVOKE LICENSE.

Connersville Examiner: John Flannagan was this afternoon asked to appear before the mayor Thursday evening and show reasons why his liquor license should not be revoked. It is charged that the license under which the saloon on Sixth street is run was issued to Flannagan while the place is owned by Kid Whitton.

GOOD LAND! THEY SELL IT VERY HIGH

Ed Foster Gets $140 an Acre For a
Ninety Acre Tract Near Glenwood.

MURPHY WANTS $150 AN ACRE

Says this morning's Courier: "The land deal of much interest to country people in both Fayette and Rush counties was consummated yesterday afternoon. George Hulz, residing near Glenwood on the Rush county side, sold to Edward Foster, ninety acres of the richest soil in Rush county for $140 per acre."

Jesse Murphy, also living near Glenwood, but on the Fayette county side, will have parties viewing his land today with the intention of purchasing, it was said yesterday, about eighty-five acres at $150 per acre."

During the last ten years there has been a great expansion in the value of the foreign trade of Brazil.

LAWYERS SAY THEY ARE ALIVE

Drys Strike Back at the Wets' Barristers Relative to Legal Point Raised.

HOLD ELECTION ON SATURDAY

And Same Will be in Full Accord
With the Law—Cite Rulings on It.

"Caught napping, eh! Well we hardly think so!" sayeth the attorneys for the "drys" in response to the "wets'" declaration the county option election March 6 will be illegal because the vote cannot be canvassed on "the day after" without violating the Sunday laws says the Shelbyville News in speaking of a situation that has a parallel in the Rush county call for an election.

They aver the lawyers propagating such assertions as mollycoddles, and that is something fierce. In other words they are ignoramuses, the lowest type of imbeciles.

Since Saturday morning when the News published the beliefs of several attorneys concerning the legality of canvassing a vote on Sunday, the "drys" have investigated and avow the Commissioners were within the bounds of the law.

"If a party has twenty-four hours from Saturday to do an act, Sunday is to be excluded."

This is one of the contradictions advanced by the "drys" to which they cite the following references: Link vs Clemens, 7 Blackford, page 479, Backer vs Pyne, 130 Ind., page 288.

Sundays are excluded when a term or session of a court or board is limited to a given number of days. The attorneys for the "drys" cite "wets" to English vs. Dickey, 128 Ind., page 174; Yocum vs. First National bank, 144 Ind., page 272.

These three statements contend the attorneys for the "drys," cover all phases of the controversy and are substantiated by incontrovertible proof in Supreme court decisions.

The law says the commissioners shall meet the day after the election to canvass the vote, that a certificate of election must be filed with the auditor within five days and that the commissioners must take cognizance at their next regular meeting.

COL. ALEX W. POSEY RECEIVING HANLY

The Inimitable "Bud," With a Colonel Attached to His Name, is Doing Things.

IS MAKING GOOD IN THE WEST

We note, with pleasure, in dispatches in the morning metropolitan newspapers that Col. Alexander W. Posey, formerly "Bud" Posey of Rushville, was on a committee in Spokane, Washington today that greeted and entertained former Governor Hanly with a genuine Hoosier welcome. Whenever we see Alec's name mentioned any more it always has the "Col." handle to it. Just for the fun of the thing we would like to hear Bud telling some of the Westerners war stories and how he got the appellation of Colonel.

DEATH OF THE KLECKNER BILL

Option Repeal Measure Has Been Chloroformed.

NOT TO BE HEARD OF AGAIN

In Sending Measure to Repeal Local Option Law Back to Committee, Indiana Legislators Acted in Accordance With Conclusion That This Was Not the Bill They Wanted—Another Measure Along Somewhat Similar Lines Has Been Pushed Forward and Is Being Given a Try-out Today—Legislative Visitation Committee Uses Pruning Knife.

Indianapolis, Feb. 9.—It was the understanding this morning that the long-delayed contest over the county local option repeal bills would be taken up in the house. Another step was taken in the attempted repeal of the county local option law when the Proctor-Tomlinson repeal bill substituting the incorporated town and city ward units was recommended to the committee on public morals and amended by that committee as proposed by Senator Proctor (Dem.) author of the bill.

According to Chairman Racey, chairman of the committee, and Representative Tomlinson, who introduced the bill, the measure will be brought up for second reading in the house today.

It now appears questionable whether the Democrats can make as firm a stand on the Proctor-Tomlinson bill as on the Kleckner township and ward option bill. Representative Sicks, one of the anti-repealers, said that the "repealers" would lose a few of the caucus votes if they attempted to put through any but the Kleckner bill.

Kleckner Bill Dead.

It is regarded as certain, however, that the Kleckner bill will not be reported to the house again. The bill was recommended with the Proctor-Tomlinson measure, and is again in the hands of the committee. There will be no change in the signatures on the reports of the public morals committee. With the exception of Representative Hostetter all the Democrats have signed majority reports on both the repeal bills. Hostetter signed the minority reports for indefinite postponement, as did the Republican members of the committee.

There has been further amendment of the Proctor-Tomlinson bill proposed, but it is improbable such action will be taken. Representative McGinnis, who suggested that cities of 10,000 or less population be made a unit, said today he would not attempt to insert such an amendment.

Tenement House Bill.

The greater part of yesterday afternoon's house session was given over to the amending of bills which came up on second reading. The tenement house bill, made a special order for 3 o'clock, was passed to engrossment, with the amendments agreed upon by the members of the house when the matter was thrashed out on the floor last week. It was thought that the bill would be amended to meet the bill passed by the senate, which applied only to Marion and Vanderburg counties, but no such suggestions were offered.

Representative Clore made a strong speech to save the life of his bill to abolish the office of fish and game commissioner, which he said was demanded in Johnson county. The bill provides for prosecution of violations by the county prosecutor, also that no fish shall be caught with any but a hook and line.

A divided report was made on the bill, the minority members favoring passage and the majority indefinite postponement. The vote to indefinitely postpone was 60 to 26.

The senate committee on education recommended the passage of Senator Kane's school book bill providing for local selection in high-school textbooks. The bill is similar to the Cox bill, except the latter refers to grades as well as high schools.

The committee on military affairs recommended the passage of Senator Ranke's bill providing that service in the Spanish-American war shall count as part of five years necessary to retirement from Indiana national guard.

Used Pruning Knife Freely.

The legislative visitation committee, which submitted its report to the legislature yesterday showing the relative needs of the state institutions, offices, boards and commissions, used a sharpened knife on many of the estimates.

The report consists of 333 type-written pages. The committee has been at work since Nov. 12, 1908. It consists of Senator Horace Hannan, chairman; Representative Gus Greiger, secretary, and Representative Henry P. Sicks, treasurer.

Every state institution was visited by the committee and conditions were investigated as thoroughly as time would permit. The committee was accompanied on nearly all of its trips by Samuel C. Shutt, chief engineer at the state house, who gave the committee the benefit of his advice. Sweeping reductions in appropriations were recommended.

INDIANA POLITICS

ROBERT G. TUCKER.

Indianapolis, Feb. 9.—It is not likely that the bill of Senator Proctor to provide for the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" in public schools will be reported favorably. The education committee is in a predicament. It does not feel that such a bill should be made a part of the Indiana laws. Neither do the members of the committee feel like making an unfavorable report, as to do so would seem unpatriotic. "We will probably make no report on the bill," said Senator E. E. Moore, chairman of the education committee. "We feel that to pass such a law would be making the singing of the national anthem a task instead of an inspiration. School children would soon become tired of the song and would care but little for it in later years. Neither do we care to make an unfavorable report." One stanza of the song, denouncing the British, is now omitted, and Senator Proctor's bill would revise the singing of the song as it was written by Francis Scott Key. The bill would require all schools to sing the song in full at least once a week.

Advocates of county option repeal measures are using extracts from Governor Marshall's campaign speeches in which he took pains to show that the ward and township unit is preferable to the county. In his first keynote speech at Richmond, three months before the campaign was opened, Governor Marshall defined his attitude in favor of the township and ward plan. His line of argument then was that the township and ward option plan would place the local option question nearer the people than the county unit. Later, when it was rumored at Salem that he would sign a county local option law if elected, he gave out a prepared interview saying that if he preferred the county unit to the township and ward, he would say so and get off the Democratic ticket. These and other statements he made are being used to show how he stands, although he won't help or oppose any bill. The advocates of the repeal measures are confident that the governor will sign any of them if he gets a chance. His refusal, however, to do anything now for the paramount issue of his party is causing much comment among the "liberal" Republicans who voted for him with the understanding that he would use his influence to bring about the adoption of the ward and township unit. Marshall's friends say that if the "liberal" Republicans feel that they were deceived they have themselves to blame. They insist that at no time during the campaign, after the special session, did he say or intimate that he would help repeal the county local option law. While the "liberals" admit that the governor's attitude is consistent with his statement that he wouldn't meddle with the affairs of the legislature, they are inclined to regard it as a very shrewd scheme to get them into line for him without committing himself definitely to an issue on which he landed their votes.

The legislative visitation committee consisting of Senators Hanna, Representatives Greiger and Sicks, will probably submit its report today. This committee has been pruning the demands of the various institutions and boards for appropriations. The penal and benevolent institutions have asked for about $5,000,000 for the next two years. The Indiana university and state normal school asked for an increase in taxation for their benefit but it will not be recommended. The committee will recommend a general reduction in salaries of stenographers and clerks at the state house.

The senate Republicans will hold another conference on the Indianapolis Merchants' association bill for a uniform system of accounting in public offices. Some of them are holding out against it on the ground that it would give Governor Marshall a chance to build up a machine for the Democratic party. With some amendments to provide for non-partisan deputy inspectors, the Republicans will stand for the bill. Senator Will Wood and other Republican leaders declared today that they will favor the measure if some slight amendments are made.

Calls have been sent out by the state board of education, the state librarian and the public library commission to interested librarians in the state to appear this week before the senate committee which is to consider the Fleming bill designed to create a commission to have charge of the state library and the state traveling libraries, and to include under the protecting arm of the state the library training school now conducted by Miss Merica Hogeland in this city.

Opposition has developed to a bill introduced by Representative Bassett of Indianapolis to exempt labor organizations from the provisions of the state anti-trust law. It is said that his amendment would invalidate the entire law, which was patterned after the Sherman act. Bassett says the bill was prepared by the labor organizations of Indiana and that it has no purpose to invalidate the anti-trust act.

INTERESTED IN THE HIGHER LIFE

Religious Education Association Meets at Chicago.

LEADERS OF THOUGHT THERE

Scores of the Best Known Educators and Thinkers of the Country Have Gathered at Chicago Today for a Three-Days' Conference—Social and Moral Uplift the Object of This Association's Endeavor—A Movement Which Has the Heartiest Endorsement of President Roosevelt.

Chicago, Feb. 9.—This city is the scene today of a notable gathering of men and women interested in the higher life of America in its relations to religion and education. They have assembled here to attend the sixth general convention of the Religious Education association, which will begin tonight a three days' meeting in Orchestra hall.

The sessions of the association will be opened by the address of the president of the association, Dr. Francis Greenwood Peabody, who is professor of Christian morals at Harvard university. He will speak on "The Social Conscience and the Religious Life." Following Dr. Peabody, President Benjamin Ide Wheeler of the University of California will speak on "Religious Education and Moral Efficiency" and Professor S. C. Mitchell, president elect of the University of South Carolina, on "Religious Education and Racial Adjustment."

Prominent Thinkers Present.

The convention has brought together scores of the most prominent educators and thinkers of the country who have identified themselves with the association and who are its most enthusiastic supporters and hundreds of men and women who, though less prominent, are just as heartily in sympathy with the objects of the association.

An extraordinary list of well known men will be in attendance, and the speakers at the popular meetings, besides those mentioned above, will include President Eliot of Harvard university, Ambassador James Bryce, Miss Jane Addams of Hull House, Marion Talbot, dean of the woman's college, University of Chicago; Professor Cyrus Northrop, president of the University of Minnesota, and others.

Indorsed by Mr. Roosevelt.

Organized in Chicago six years ago, the association has held largely attended conventions since then in Boston, Philadelphia, Rochester and Washington. At Washington President Roosevelt received the delegates at the White House and gave his heartiest indorsement to all the ideals of the movement. The purpose of the association is to inspire the educational forces of the country with the religious ideal, to inspire the religious forces of our country with the educational ideal and to keep before the public the ideal of religious education and the sense of its need and value.

The association now enrolls more than 2,000 members, including laymen, college presidents and professors, pastors, teachers and parents, interested in the problem of character training. It knows no sectarian lines and has no theological platform.

Home Course In Modern Agriculture

VIII.—Corn Growing

By C. V. GREGORY,

Agricultural Division, Iowa State College

Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association

SINCE corn is the principal crop grown over so large a section of the United States it is important that we learn as much as possible regarding the best methods of producing it. The average yield of corn in the United States in 1907 was only 23.7 bushels per acre. Many of the best farmers are able to obtain an average yield of sixty to seventy bushels per acre year after year. There is no secret in their methods. They are simple enough to be applied to every farm in the corn belt. There is no reason why the average yield per acre should not be fifty bushels or more instead of less than half that, as at present.

In preparing to raise a maximum crop of corn there are two main factors to be considered—the soil and the seed. Of these two the first is probably the more important. We have already learned how the plant obtains food and water from the soil. The first step in preparing the soil for a corn crop, then, is to see that there is a plentiful supply of plant food on hand. This we can do by using barnyard manure liberally and by following a consistent system of rotation that will equalize the demands made on the soil and keep up the supply of nitrogen and humus.

The next point is to see that the soil is in such condition that the roots will have little difficulty in branching out to secure the needed plant food and water. Thorough plowing, disk and harrowing will make the soil fine and mellow, so that the roots will have little trouble in obtaining all the plant food they can use, provided it is there at all.

The water supply can be regulated to a considerable extent by tile drainage and by keeping the surface loose to check evaporation. The temperature of the soil is also an important factor in hastening germination and early growth. Drainage, cultivation and the maintenance of a plentiful supply of humus will aid greatly in securing a warm seed bed by planting time.

With a warm, well prepared soil containing sufficient quantities of plant food and water the next question that comes up is regarding the kind of seed to put into that soil. Almost any kind of seed will grow and produce a fair crop under favorable conditions. What we are after, however, is not a fair crop, but an extra good one.

The seed of different strains of corn varies greatly in its ability to produce yields. In the spring of 1905 the Iowa experiment station gathered seed from nearly a hundred different sources and planted it on the station grounds. Under conditions that were as nearly alike as it was possible to make them the yields from the different strains varied from thirty-one to eighty bushels per acre. This variation shows that a large share of the improvement in corn production must come through the breeding of high yielding strains.

It is not safe to ship in seed corn from a distance. Corn is very sensitive to changes in climate and soil. To obtain the best results the work of breeding must be done for each locality and to some extent for each farm.

A method of improving seed corn that will surely result in some improvement and one that has simplicity to recommend it is that of selecting a number of the best ears each year and planting them in a field by themselves or in one corner of the main field. By selecting the best ears from this breeding plot each year to plant next year's breeding plot and using the rest of the good ears to plant in the main field some improvement can be effected. The weak point in this plan, however, is that the yielding power of an ear cannot be told from its appearance. Neither is it possible to prevent inbreeding by such a method.

To avoid these difficulties the "individual ear" plot has been devised. This should preferably be at least forty rods from the nearest cornfield. Where this is impossible a strip along the south side of a field of the same variety may be used. As the prevailing July and August winds are from the south, very little pollen from the main field will blow over on the breeding plot.

Each row in the individual ear plot is to be planted with the kernels from a single ear. As any fair sized ear will plant a row forty rods long, this is a convenient length for the plot. Select from 50 to 100 of the best ears you can find among your seed corn and plant them in as many rows across the plot. The work can be done with a planter if care is taken to clean the seed boxes out thoroughly each time across. The cultivation given to the plot should be the same as that which the main field receives.

The time for special treatment comes when the tassels begin to appear. We have already learned that inbreeding is weakening and that cross fertilization develops strength and vitality. In order to prevent inbreeding in the individual ear plot the tassels on every alternate row should be pulled out as soon as they appear. In order that these may be removed before they shed any pollen it will be necessary to go over the field every other day for a week after the first tassels start. At the same time any tassels from weak, barren or spindling stalks in the other rows should be removed. In this way only pollen from healthy, vigorous stalks is allowed to mature. Thus the ears on the detasseled rows, being cross fertilized and having only strong, healthy male parents, have a much better chance of producing large yields when planted than would ears picked from the general field.

The most important point, however, is the selection of high yielding strains that is made possible by having the ears planted in individual rows. When harvesting time comes the produce of each row should be husked separately and weighed. It will be found that there is a great difference in yield. The highest yielding rows, provided the corn is of good quality, should furnish seed for next year's breeding plot. The rest of the good seed ears from the detasseled rows should be planted in a small field, known as the "multiplying plot." The best of the seed from this multiplying plot can be used to plant the general fields and for sale.

By continuing this breeding process from year to year a strain of corn may be built up that will far outyield the ordinary corn of the neighborhood. In addition to the increase in yield which will result on your own farm, a trade in seed corn may be built up that will add materially to the year's profits. There are many variations in the plan of breeding here outlined, but the essential point in all of them is to select the best yielding individual ears and to prevent cross pollination as much as possible.

After the seed corn has been picked it should be stored in such a manner that it will pass through the winter uninjured. The hints in regard to seed storage as given in article No. 6 should be followed.

Some time toward the close of winter the corn should be tested. For a preliminary test a hundred kernels may be taken from as many ears in different parts of the room. If the corn has exceptionally strong vitality the kernels may all germinate. In case some of the kernels fail to grow or any considerable number show weak sprouts each ear should be tested separately in order that the weak ones may be discarded. The method of making this test has been described so many times in agricultural papers and bulletins that it will be unnecessary to give it in detail here. It simply consists in placing several kernels from each ear in a corresponding square in the germinating box. In this way the vitality of each ear may be readily determined.

Shortly before planting time the ears should be shelled and run through a seed corn grader to take out the butt and tip kernels and divide the rest into even grades. The next step is to block up the planter and run through a sample of each grade, changing plates until a set is found that will drop the required number of kernels practically every time. If this is done and well tested seed used a good stand will almost certainly result.

Avoid too deep planting. All that is necessary is to have the seed well covered with moist soil. If this can be done without putting it down more than an inch or two, so much the better. Since the plant cannot begin to digest and use the plant food of the soil and air until it has unfolded its leaves it is plain that the less soil it has to push through before it can spread out its leaves and get to work the sooner it will commence to grow. Deep planted seeds often so nearly exhaust the plant food in the endosperm before they reach the surface that they are never able to develop into strong, healthy plants.

After planting the aim should be to keep the soil in the same fine tilth it was in at planting time in order to provide large feeding ground for the roots and prevent the escape of capillary moisture.

CONAN DOYLE'S CAREER IN LITERATURE.

SIR CONAN DOYLE, the biographer of Sherlock Holmes, is a tall, broad-shouldered fellow, frank, genial, modest, off-hand in act and speech, unchanged by his fame, a man who has passed through the fiery furnace of popular success without scar or singeing.

He was born in Edinburgh in 1859 of an ancestry that had won honors in art and in war. When a boy of nine at school at Stonyhurst he developed unmistakable symptoms of literary ability which grew more marked in his later study in Germany. While a student of medicine in the University of Edinburgh, over twenty-five years ago, he sent his first story to "Chambers' Journal" and was fortunate enough to find instant acceptance for it. After graduating and taking a whaling trip to the Arctic he returned to his native land to take up the serious work of earning a livelihood. He then hung out a beautiful, brass, Doctor's sign of which he was very proud and waited for the sick to come in and be led by him back into the primrose path of health and happiness. But patients were few and fees were scarce, so he had leisure which he devoted to literature.

Fifty of his short stories appeared anonymously and after ten years of hard work he was as unknown as if he had never penned a line and during these years his income from his writings averaged only five dollars a week. He wrote "A Study in Scarlet" in which Sherlock Holmes—that cold, fascinating deduction-machine solved wondrous detective mysteries with but the slightest shadow of a clue. It was rejected many times before it found a haven of rest and a check for $125 from "Beeton's Christmas Annual" of 1887, and "Micah Clark," a splendid story of the Monmouth Rebellion, knocked in vain at many publishers' doors before being accepted.

Dr. Doyle's literary sky began to clear, his financial barometer rose rapidly and in 1890 he forsook his office in Swan sea and came to London determined to become an eye specialist. He studied in Paris and Vienna and opened an office in London but soon fell a victim to another successful story and medicine was shelved forever.

His books have simplicity, directness, individuality, keen insight and faithfulness to detail. His "Adventures of Gerard," the story of a brave, stalwart soldier of Napoleon's campaign, a worshipper of the Little Corporal, is a lovable type, a man of naive simplicity but of supreme vanity, who recounts his own heroics with an innocent unconsciousness that is charming and delightful, and is one of the best soldier characters in the realm of fiction.

ECZEMA LODGES IN THE SKIN.

Not a Blood Disease—Cured by Oil of Wintergreen Compound.

For many years eczema was supposed to be a blood disease and was erroneously treated as such, but now the best authorities agree that eczema is only a skin disease and must be cured through the skin. The eminent skin specialist, Dr. D. D. Dennis, first discovered the eczema germ and his discovery was quickly taken up in both Germany and France.

To kill the eczema germ and at the same time heal the skin, Dr. Dennis compounded oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc. The remedy is a liquid, not a mere salve, hence it sinks right into the pores of the skin. Washing with this oil of wintergreen compound seems to take the itch away at once; soon the scales drop away and the disease disappears.

TRY THE MONEY-BACK CURE FOR INDIGESTION.

Nine times in ten stomach derangements are responsible for sallow complexion, dull eyes and thin body.

It is the stomach that supplies nourishing blood to the muscles, the nerves and skin. If the stomach is healthy, plenty of nutritious matter will be absorbed by the blood. If it is not healthy, the food will ferment, and undigested, will pass along through the bowels, furnishing so little nutritious matter that the blood becomes impoverished, and the glow of health vanishes.

If you suffer from nervousness, sick headache, belching of gas, sour taste in the mouth, heaviness after eating, or any other miserable stomach disturbance, you need Mi-o-na, and the sooner you get it the quicker you will be healthier and happier.

It will relieve any distressed stomach condition almost immediately. It will cure if used according to directions. F. B. Johnson & Co. sell it for 50 cents a large box, and they think enough of it to guarantee it to cure indigestion.

A Suggestion.

Congress is considering the bill to establish postal savings banks which has been so earnestly recommended by the President. One of the problems for discussion is what to do with the money. It must be made safe for the depositors and at the same time it must not be withdrawn from circulation. The latter of these requirements can be accomplished only by putting it in the banks. The government will pay interest on it to the depositors which it will want to get back in some way, and it can charge the banks the interest which it pays and a little bit more to cover the cost of doing the business. Then in what lands and on what terms shall it be deposited and with what guarantees of payments. It ought to be, if possible the banks of the neighborhood. To make the postal savings banks mere feeders to Wall Street would be a consummation devoutly to be regretted. To this end it would be desirable to use State as well as National banks as depositaries. There are good reasons why the note-issuing function of banking should be confined to banks organized under the laws of Congress; but for all other branches of the business State banks can serve the community just as well as National banks, so the State laws and State supervision are effective to make them safe. Subject to this condition there is no good reason why postal saving banks money may not be deposited in State banks and trust companies provided the requisite of security can be met. To do this by any system of collateral securities under which each bank would put up its separate pledges would be a desperately cumbersome and more or less risky business. The simple, easy, sure way is by a mutual guaranty fund maintained by all the depositaries. Let every bank that wants to handle postal savings bank money keep in the hands of the United States Treasurer an amount equal to five per cent. (or some other per cent.) of that money intrusted to it to form part of a great guaranty fund common to all the banks contributing to it; and upon the failure of any one of these banks, let its liability for those deposits be paid out of the guaranty fund, that fund so be reimbursed out of the assets of the bank pro rata with other creditors when its affairs are wound up.

Notice of Dissolution of Partnership.

Notice is hereby given that the firm of Hunt & Kennedy has this first day of February, 1909, dissolved partnership, Mr. J. B. Kennedy, retiring from the above firm. All accounts and liabilities to be assumed by G. P. Hunt.

Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

Don't drug the stomach, or stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is wrong. It is the weak nerves that are crying out for help. Vitalize these weak inside controlling nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative, and see how quickly good health will come to you again. Try and see! Sold by F. B. Johnson & Co.

Upon diminution of the fund below a stated minimum pro rata assessments to be made upon all the banks contributing to it to make it good again.

It will be immediately remarked, of course, that this is Bryan's plan; and so it is in a sense; but with the wide difference that it is a wise, clear and practicable plan, which his was not. Bank deposits are in their nature a fit subject for insurance and will be protected in that way in this country some day, but not by forcing it on all the banks of the country at once, as Mr. Bryan proposed. Here is an opportunity to try it on a relatively small scale and with perfect safety and convenience. Let the country be divided into districts; say one State in each, except, perhaps, in the case of very small States, where two or more might constitute a district, and let each district have its own guaranty fund. If any bank is unwilling to contribute, it would receive no postal deposits. If any bank having started in, wanted to get out, it need only to pay over the postal savings money in its hands and take down its deposits in the guaranty fund. It would be the simplest, cheapest, safest form of security that the banks could give. It would be no burden on other depositors, nor impair their security in any degree. After some years of experience with this form of guarantee for this purpose the banks might be so impressed with its advantages that they would be willing voluntarily to adopt it for the security of their general depositors.

Moreover, if the banks in any district should be unwilling to adopt it, or having adopted it, should be unwilling to keep it up, congress would have the same unobstructed opportunity which it has now to deal with the banks in that district upon the basis of separate securities put up by each bank for itself.

BEEN SINGING FOR QUARTER CENTURY

Choir Gives Dinner Celebrating Silver Anniversary of Mark Purcell Basso Soloist.

HAS BEEN A FAITHFUL MEMBER

Twenty-five years service in one church choir is a long time and if ever a man should receive the praise and plaudits of a church people it is for such a service. Such is the record of Mark Purcell, basso soloist of the Catholic church choir. During the quarter of a century that he has been identified with the work he has not missed two dozen Sundays from being on hand. Besides he always sings at funerals, marriages, etc., but never has sung at his own wedding. Last night the choir gave a dinner honoring Mr. Purcell and his silver anniversary at the home of Father Cronin. A "silver trophy" was tendered the basso soloist.

He was well known in this city. Mrs. Lucile Crist of Chicago, sister of the deceased was at his bedside when death came.

Valentine Day

St. Valentine's Day comes next Sunday and on that account will be celebrated for three days, Saturday, Sunday and Monday. The novelty stores have already laid in a big supply of Valentines, the "pretty ones," as ye milady calls the good-natured ones, and the "comics," which delight the male urchin. The pretty ones are described as prettier and handsomer than the valentines the annual date of Valentine's day, employed last year on February 14, and the old-fashioned "comics" have about disappointed. They are the rough and tumble sort that are calculated to offend. The pretty ones are displayed in all shapes and colors. Some are highly illuminated, and are fine specimens of the printer's art. Modernity may be said to be the note to which the rhymes of this year's valentine are attuned. The rhymes of some of the latest valentines are formed by the employment of pictures of objects instead of words. Some of the shapes are still those of the Cupid heart, and others are shaped and colored to represent the oyster. For the first time the automobile habit has colored the sentiments of the valentines in the same way that the motoring habit has caused to appear some new every day fashions of dress for men and women. Automobile valentines are very handsome and some of them quite costly. You can get your choice of either comics or handsome valentines in prices that range from a cent to $5 and $10. The directory gown is one of the newest ideas that has entered into the make-up of the modern valentine, and one can also get a valentine in the shape of an air ship if his fancy runs to navigation of the air. "My love today, I say, would fain to come to me on an aeroplane," is a couplet from one of the airship valentines. "My love, she is so up-to-date, the auto is her ship of state," is a couplet from one of the motor car valentines. Post cards galore will be used on Valentine Day.

(Greensburg News.)

Zack Boicourt, who for years has been noted throughout Indiana as the "father of the Old Settlers' Meeting" held annually at Westport, was in town today and informed the News that many radical changes were to be made for the meeting to be held this year from August 4 to 7. In fact this meeting while embracing all the features that made it known as a Settlers' Meeting will blossom out into a first class county fair, one similar to those given years ago which everybody went to and enjoyed. A half mile track will be built.

NOT PUBLIC SPIRITED.

(Shelbyville Liberal.)

The men in Shelbyville who are boosting county option election in order to attempt to make Shelbyville "dry" are the very men, without exception, who favored removing the hitch racks from the public square, thus driving the farmers to either put their horses in a livery stable, or remain away from Shelbyville. Take a survey of the list of county option boosters around Shelbyville starting with "Col." Will F. Little, the tailor, and you will find that every anti-hitch rack advocate is a "dry" advocate. It is the same old anti-hitch rack brigade. The farmers ought to investigate this pointer.

MADE IN SPAIN.

(New Castle Courier.)

There is on exhibition in the west window of the Ol J. Holloway furniture store a chair that was made during the reign of Queen Isabella of Spain, over 500 years ago. It was purchased by Mrs. George W. Williams, north of town, during her recent visit to the Don's country with her husband.

The chair is of some kind of hard wood, the name of which Mrs. Williams does not know, and is finished with leather seat and back, a large wooden crown surmounting the back. It was purchased in the old Moorish castle of Alhambra at Grenada and is highly prized by the owner as a rare piece of antique furniture.

Meat is high, fruit scarce, so buy Mrs. Austins famous pancake flour. A good, hearty breakfast for little money.

MAN DROPPED DEAD
OF HEART DISEASE

James Gresly, Aged 80 Years, Succumbs at His Home in North Sexton Street.

AT THREE O'CLOCK TODAY

James Greely, eighty years of age, died suddenly at his home in North Sexton street this afternoon at three o'clock of heart disease.

Mr. Greely had been lying down and had fallen asleep directly after dinner. About three o'clock he awoke, arose, and expressed his intention of going out in the rain. Mrs. Heath, who lives in the same house, told him that he should not go out in bad weather. Shortly after she had uttered these words he fell over on the floor and died a few moments after he was placed on a bed.

The deceased is the last of the family, his wife having died five years ago. There were no children to bless their union. The funeral arrangements will be reported tomorrow.

BUSINESS IS ON INCREASE

Traffic Manager Speaks Encouragingly—Farmers Hope For Short Cut Route.

George S. Henry, traffic manager of the I. & C., was in the city today, and was seen by a News representative, says the Connersville News. Asked bluntly as to the prospects of early extension he parried the question by saying he had nothing to give out on that score, but grew eloquent in praise of the increased business showing on the Connersville line.

He made it clear that this was very gratifying to the company and tended to better things for the system in the near future; but when it came to plain specifications as to the extension he was as close mouthed as his father has ever been on such matters.

From general reports, however, it is learned that the standing of the I. & C. system is improving. Its current bills are promptly met and its indebtedness is being reduced steadily.

There is still hope among the people living southeast of the city that the line, when built, will take that course despite all that has been said about the Liberty route. Only a few days ago a well known farmer said that his neighbors were watching closely for signs of some movement on the company's part and when they come, it would be ready to offer inducements that might well be worth considering.

Silence!

The instinct of modesty natural to every woman is often a great hindrance to the cure of womanly diseases. Women shrink from the personal questions of the local physician which seem indecorous. The thought of examination is abhorrent to them, and so they endure in silence a condition of disease which surely progresses from bad to worse.

It has been Dr. Pierce's privilege to cure a great many women who have found a refuge for modesty in his offer of FREE consultation by letter. All correspondence is held as sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription restores and regulates the womanly functions, abolishes pain and builds up and puts the finishing touch of health on every weak woman who gives it a fair trial.

A Gentleman From Mississippi

By THOMAS A. WISE

Novelized From the Play by Frederick R. Toombs

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY THOMAS A. WISE

CHAPTER XX. THE CALL TO ARMS.

BOTH Randolph and Carolina were deeply affected by their father's words.

The daughter attempted to take on herself the blame for her brother's action.

"I was the older one. I might have stopped him if I had wished and should bear the burden."

"No, no, father," exclaimed the youth, his inborn self reliance prompting him to shoulder the consequences of his own mistakes. "I, and I alone, am responsible for what I did. I did not realize that it was wrong. I will not hide behind Carolina."

Carolina Langdon bore herself better than was to have been expected under the strain of the painful interview. She saw more clearly now how she had erred. She was undergoing an inward revolution that would make it impossible for her ever again to veer so far from the line of duty to her father, her family and to herself.

When Randolph had finished Carolina took up her own defense, and eloquently she pleaded the defense of many a woman who yearns for what she has not got, for what may be beyond her reach—the defense of the woman who chafes under the limitations of worldly position, of sex and of opportunity. It was the defense of an ambitious woman.

"Perhaps I ought to have been a man of the Langdon family," she exclaimed. "Father, oh, can't you understand that I couldn't doze my life away down on those plantations? You don't know what ambition is. I had to have the world. I had to have money. If I had been a man I would have tried big financial enterprises. I should have liked to fight for a fortune. You wouldn't have condemned me then. You might have said my methods were bold, but if I succeeded I would have been a great man. But just because I am a woman you think I must sit home with my knitting. No, father, the world does move. Women must have an equal chance with men, but I wish I had been a man!"

"Even then I hope you would have been a gentleman," rebuked her father sternly. "Women should have an equal chance, Carolina. They should have an equal chance for the same virtues as men, not for the same vices."

"But an equal chance," returned the girl fervently. "There, father, you have admitted what I have tried to prove. The woman with the spirit of a man, the spirit that cries to a woman, 'Advance,' 'Accomplish,' 'Be something,' 'Strike for yourself,' cannot sit idly by while all the world moves on. If it is true that I have chosen the wrong means, the wrong way, to better my lot I did it through ignorance, and that ignorance is the fault of the times in which I live, of the system that guides the era in which I live."

"I am what the world calls 'educated,' but the world, the world of men, knows better. It laughs at me. It has cheated me because I am a woman. The world of men has fenced me in and hobbled me with convention, with precedent, with fictitious sentiment."

If I pursue the business of men as they themselves would pursue it I am called an ungrateful daughter. If I should adopt the morals of men I would be called a fallen woman. If I adopted the religion of men I would have no religion at all. Turn what way I will!"

"But not every woman feels the way you do, my daughter," broke in the senator.

"No, you are right, because their spirit has been crushed by generations, by centuries of forced subservience to men. They tell us we should be thankful that we do not live in China, where women are physical slaves to men. In our country they are forced to be mental and social slaves to men. Is one very much worse than the other?"

"Then, dear," and her father's tone was very gentle, "if you want an equal chance—want to be equal to a man—you must take your medicine with Randolph, like a man."

"What are you going to do, sir?" she asked, afraid.

"I'm going to spoil all your little scheme, dear," he returned, smiling sadly. "I'm going, I fear, to make you lose all your money. I'd like to make it easy for you, but I can't. You've got to take your medicine, children, and when it's all over back there in Mississippi I shall be able, I hope, to patch up your broken lives and together we will work out your mistakes. I can't think of that now. The honor of the Langdons calls. This is the time for the fight, and any one who fights against me must take the consequences."

He walked over and touched the bell. "Thomas," he said to the servant who responded, "take that letter at once to Senator Peabody, in the library."

"What is it, sir?" asked Randolph.

"It's the call to arms," responded his father grimly.

Senator Peabody read the letter to which Haines had signed Langdon's name and jumped up from his chair in the library in astonishment. Without a word to the startled Stevens he rushed to confront Langdon.

"What's the meaning of this?" he shouted as he burst in on the junior senator from Mississippi.

"Of what?" asked the southerner, with a blandness that added fuel to Peabody's irritation.

"Don't trifle with me, sir!" cried "the boss of the senate." "This letter. You sent it. Explain it! I'm in no mood to joke."

Langdon looked at him calmly.

"I think the letter is quite plain, senator," he said. "You can read." Then he turned to his daughter. "This discussion cannot possibly interest you, my dear. Will you go to the drawing room to receive our guests?"

Carolina obeyed. She seemed to be discovering new qualities in this father whom she had considered to be too old fashioned for his time.

"Now, senator, go ahead, and, Randolph, you bring Stevens."

"You're switching to Gulf City?" demanded Peabody.

"I'm considering Gulf City," agreed Langdon.

Peabody brought down his fist on the table.

"It's too late to consider anything, Langdon," he cried. "We're committed to Altacoola, and Altacoola it is. I don't care what you heard of Gulf City. Now, I'd like to settle this thing in a friendly manner, Langdon. I like always for every member of the senate to have his share of the power and the patronage. We've been glad to put you forward in this naval base matter. We appreciate the straightforwardness, the honesty of your character. You look well. You're the kind of politician the public thinks it wants nowadays, but you've been in the senate long enough to know that bills have to pass, and you know you can't get through anything without my friends, and I tell you now I'll throttle any Gulf City plan you bring up."

"Then if you are as sure of that you can't object to my being for Gulf City?" asked Langdon.

"Are you financially interested in Gulf City?" demanded Peabody.

"Senator Peabody!" exclaimed Langdon.

"Don't flare up, Langdon," retorted Peabody. "That sort of thing has happened in the senate. There are often perfectly legitimate profits to be made in some regular commercial venture by a man who has inside information as to what's doing up on Capitol hill."

"Senator Peabody," asked Langdon, "why are you so strong for Altacoola?" The Pennsylvanian hesitated.

"Its natural advantages," he said at last.

The southerner shook his head.

"Oh, that's all? Well, if natural advantages are going to settle it, and not influence, go ahead and vote, and "Women must have an equal chance." I'll just bring in a minority report for Gulf City."

"The boss of the senate" was in a corner now.

"Confound it, Langdon, if you will have it, I am interested in Altacoola," Langdon nodded.

"That's all I wanted to know," he said.

"Now you see why it's got to be Altacoola," persisted the boss.

"I don't mind telling you, then, Senator Peabody," answered Langdon calmly, "that my being for Gulf City was a bluff. I've been trying to draw you out. Gulf City is a mud bank and no more fitted to be a naval base than Keokuk, Ia. Altacoola it's got to be, for the good of the country and the honor of Mississippi."

"And one thing more, senator. I'd just like to add that not a single man connected with that committee is going to make a cent out of the deal. You get that straight?"

CHAPTER XXI.

"IF YOU CAN'T BUY A SENATOR, THREATEN HIM."

SENATOR PEABODY was the most surprised man in Washington when he heard the junior senator from Mississippi state that no one was to enrich himself out of the government naval base project.

He heaped a mental anathema on the head of Stevens for saddling such a man on the senate "machine," for Langdon would of course never had been put on "naval affairs" (just now very important to the machine) without the "O. K." of Stevens, who had won a heretofore thoroughly reliable reputation as a judge of men, or of what purported to be men. The thought that at this time, of all times, there should be a man on the committee on naval affairs that could not be "handled" was sufficient to make him who revealed in the title of "boss of the senate" determine that he must get another chief lieutenant to replace Stevens, who had proved so trustworthy in the past. Stevens had lost his cunning!

As the vote of Langdon could not be secured by humbug or in exchange for favors and as it could not be "delivered," Peabody, of course, was willing to pay in actual cash for the vote. This was the final step, but one in political conspiracies of this nature—cash. But Langdon would not take cash, so Peabody had to resort to the last agency of the trained and corrupt manipulator of legislation.

He would threaten. Moreover, he knew that to make threats effective, if it is possible to do so, they must be led up to systematically—that is, they should be made at the right time. The scene must be set, as in a play.

Senator Peabody glared at Langdon as though to convince the latter that to stand in his way would mean political destruction.

"So nobody is going to make a cent."

In The Barrier Mr. Beach has written a story that is far stronger, far more gripping and powerful than The Spoilers.

eh? Well, I suppose you want all the profits for yourself." Turning to Stevens, who had just entered, the Pennsylvanian cried:

"Do you but listen to our suddenly good friend Langdon. He wants to be the only man to make money out of the naval base. He won't listen to any other member of the naval committee making a cent out of it. Why, he—"

"Great God, sir!" exclaimed Langdon. "You are going too far, Peabody. You state what is false, and you know it, you—you!"

"Then you are willing that other should have their rightful share?" p in Stevens. "Oh, I understand now senator."

"No, no, no!" cried Langdon. "You do not understand, Senator Stevens, and I must say I am ashamed to speak of you by the honorable title of senator, sir. I will not listen to any person enriching himself at the government expense, and I am your enemy, you, Peabody, and you, Stevens, beyond recall. You both know you misrepresent me."

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had. For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend.

THE NATIONAL COUNCIL MEETS

President's Art Conservators Get Together Today.

Washington, Feb. 9.—At the beautiful Octagon House, the home of the American Institute of Architects, the art council of thirty appointed by the president assembled for its first meeting today. The meeting was called primarily for organization, but the Lincoln memorial site question also came up for discussion.

The president is greatly interested in the subject and wishes to have the matter of the site for the proposed memorial to Lincoln in Washington settled as soon as possible.

Such questions as the site of the Lincoln memorial come properly within the province of the council, which consists of architects, painters, sculptors, landscape architects and laymen. The object of the council is the proffering of advice and assistance in the discussion of plans for public works into which architecture, painting and sculpture enter, such as monuments, parks, bridges, etc. It is also to make recommendations for the preservation of historical monuments.

WIRELESS WANTED

The President Would Have All Ocean Vessels Thus Equipped.

Washington, Feb. 9.—After a very brief legislative session Monday the senate closed its doors and devoted the day to a further consideration of the nomination of William D. Crum to be collector of customs for the port of Charleston, S. C.

In the house of representatives practically the entire session was given over to the consideration of bills pertaining to the District of Columbia. A message from the president was read recommending a law requiring ocean-going vessels to be equipped with wireless telegraph apparatus.

Preventives—those Candy Cold Cure Tablets—will safely and quickly check all colds and the Grip. Try them once and see! Sold by F. B. Johnson & Co.

THE PRESIDENT STILL AGITATED

Roosevelt Sends Burning Message to California.

ADMINISTRATION IN EARNEST

In a Message to the Speaker of the California Assembly President Roosevelt Points Out Where the Proposed Anti-Japanese Legislation Would Combine "a Minimum of Efficiency With a Maximum of Insult"—When the Measure Came Up in State Senate but Five Votes Were Recorded in Its Favor.

Sacramento, Cal., Feb. 9.—Only five senators favored agitation of the anti-Japanese question when the matter was called up by Senator Marc Anthony of San Francisco. The senate decided by a vote of 25 to 5 to defer until next Thursday its action upon the report of the committee on executive communications, which advises legislation aimed at the Japanese.

THE PRESIDENT'S VIEW OF IT

Roosevelt Sends a Lengthy Message to Speaker Stanton.

Washington, Feb. 9.—"The policy of the administration is to combine the maximum of efficiency in achieving the real object which the people of the Pacific slope have at heart, with the minimum of friction and trouble, while the misguided men who advocate such action as this against which I protest are following a policy which combines the very minimum of efficiency with the maximum of insult and which, while totally failing to achieve any real result for good, yet might accomplish an infinity of harm." In this language President Roosevelt in a long telegram to Speaker P. A. Stanton of the California assembly, set forth the government's view of the anti-Japanese school legislation now before that body.

The president stated that the bill gives just and grave cause for irritation and that the government would be obliged immediately to take action in the federal courts to test such legislation, because it is held to be clearly a violation of the treaty obligations of the United States. The telegram to Speaker Stanton was sent only after a conference with Senator Flint and Representative Kahn of California and F. K. Lane of the interstate commerce commission.

Senate Defends Perkins.

Under the guise of considering the nomination of Dr. W. D. Crum, the negro collector of customs at Charleston, S. C., reappointed by President Roosevelt, the senate in executive session discussed the Japanese question. Incidentally the discussion turned upon the reference to Senator Perkins by President Roosevelt in a telegram to Governor Gillett of California, in which he said the senior California senator "had hampered the administration in its efforts to build up the navy, yet now advises a policy of waning insult."

Reference to this statement was made by Senator Tillman, colleague of Senator Perkins on the naval affairs committee, and indignation was shown by other senators because of the attack upon Mr. Perkins.

Both California senators took part in the discussion. Senator Perkins made a statement to the effect that he had not been asked by the president to participate in the conferences that have been held concerning the Japanese situation in California. He said he could not understand why the president should intimate that he had tried to stir up the sentiment in California in opposition to the efforts of the president. He stated what his position had been on the subject of a big navy, declaring he had always been in favor of a steady growth of the navy, even though he was against the president's four battleship program last session.

Senator Flint declared he had not participated in the conferences at the White House until he was asked to serve as the intermediary between the administration and the California legislature. He made it clear that he did not approve of the criticism of his colleague.

On Way to Graveyard.

Carson, Nev., Feb. 9.—The assembly bill prohibiting Japanese and Chinese from acquiring lands or acting as corporation agents reached the senate and was sent to the judiciary committee along with the anti-Japanese resolution. It is almost certain that the bill will sleep in this committee or be reported unfavorably.

No Tangible Clue.

Ottumwa, Ia., Feb. 9.—A negro, arrested as a witness in connection with the murder of Clara Rosen, who was beaten to death with a stone and hidden in an abandoned cellar Friday night, has been released as having no knowledge of the crime. The police have set free all persons apprehended in connection with the case and will seek for new clues.

THE REPORT DENIED

Instead of Being on Death-Bed, Menelik Is Out Automobiling.

Addis Abeba, Abyssinia, Feb. 9.—The local representative of the Reuter Telegram company has been officially requested to deny the reports in circulation recently of the serious illness of King Menelik. His majesty is now absent from the capital on an automobile tour.

HOUSE INSURGENTS FACE CRISIS TODAY

Rebellion Against Speaker Cannon Now Open.

Washington, Feb. 9.—Having completed their plans for the real battle of their campaign, which will center around a resolution to be introduced today, the house "insurgents" who are bitterly opposed to some of the present rules governing the lower branch of congress, last night held their last meeting and adjourned sine die.

In all about twelve meetings have been held by the insurgents in their efforts to reach a definite conclusion as to exactly what they would demand in the way of changed rules and as to how they could successfully train their defiant batteries against their opponent "stand-patter" friends of "Uncle Joe" and the present rules. Twenty members were present at the final meeting. The insurgents appear confident of success.

LUCKY DOGS

Canines of High Degree on Exhibition at New York.

New York, Feb. 9.—Lovers of dogs will have an opportunity tonight and on three succeeding nights to inspect some of the choicest specimens of most of the known breeds at the annual show of the Westminster Kennel Club, which begins tonight in Madison Square Garden.

There are thousands of entries in the show, which is expected to be one of the most successful in the thirty-four years of the city's history.

IRISH LAND BILL

Subject of Discussion by the United Irish League Today.

Dublin, Feb. 9.—The national convention representing the United Irish league, the Ancient Hibernians, the Foresters and other bodies met today in the Mansion House.

The principal purpose of the convention is the discussion of the policy to be pursued during the coming session of parliament by the Irish members. The land bill and other measures of importance to Ireland will come before the convention.

A FORMAL PROTEST

Panama Enters Objection to Rainey's Recent Speech.

Washington, Feb. 9.—C. C. Arosemana, the Panama minister, called at the state department and filed a protest from his government against the speech made in the house of representatives recently by Rainey (Ill.), in which President Obaldia of Panama was severely attacked. The minister acted in pursuance of instructions called by his government.

But One More Needed.

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 9.—The nineteenth day closed with the jury still incomplete in the case of the state against Colonel Duncan B. Cooper, Robin J. Cooper and John D. Sharp, charged with the murder of former Senator E. W. Carmack. One juror, the eleventh, was sent into the box.

Mrs. Sampson Indicted.

Lyons, N. Y., Feb. 9.—Mrs. Georgia E. Sampson has been indicted for murder in the first degree, the indictment charging her with shooting and killing her husband, Harry Sampson, nephew of the late Admiral Sampson, at Macdonia, on Nov. 1 last.

Bloomington, Ind., Feb. 9.—After deliberating for thirty-nine hours the jury in the James E. Ford murder trial reported that there was no hope of an agreement and was discharged by Judge Wilson.

Want Ad Department

"That Which Is Worth Having Is Worth Advertising For"

The old adage that what is worth having is worth asking for, is still true—true of the more intricate life of today.

The thing you want—whether it is a used piano or a home, whether it is a ready-made business or a lost pocket-book—is obtained readily through a Daily Republican Want Ad, and with difficulty, or not at all, through other means.

AMUSEMENTS

At the Vaudet theater tonight will be given one of the best films of the season. It is called "A Foot Ball Warrior," and the story is taken from the great Indian play of American college life, "Strongheart." Miss Gregg will sing "I Don't Like You." The first show is given about seven o'clock and continue until a late hour, two performances being given after nine o'clock.

Large crowds attended all the shows at the Grand theater last night and all went away pleased with the subjects shown. Both are extremely interesting from beginning to end, the fire scene being especially good. The same pictures will be shown tonight. Miss Iva Brown will sing "Baby Doll."

About one hundred Rushville people went to Connersville last night and saw Richard Carle, the lanky and nimble comedian in "Mary's Lamb." The show was high class in every particular, being one of those clever, light and popular musical melanges. There was a dash of ginger in everything they did and in fact some of the lines and "effects" were rather risqué. The Egyptian shadowgraphs—art for art's sake—was put on by modest (?) models with abbreviated costumes and went big; it is a cleverly conceived arrangement. Carle is always funny and was on the stage a whole lot in this production which means that people went away satisfied. Carle is a favorite in New York City and must give them six months of his time each season, otherwise they feel slighted.
